William and Mary Is Given 13,000-Item Blow Collection

WILLIAMSBURG, Jan. 7—One of the most valuable collections of manuscripts received by the College of William and Mary library has been presented by Mrs. Edward Jeffcott, of New York City. Robert H. Land, librarian, said today Mrs. Jeffcott has given 13,000 pieces in the business and private papers of the late Richard Blow, of "Tower Hill," Sussex County.

As one of Virginia's leading merchants of the eighteenth century, Mr. Blow owned a fleet of cargo vessels and dealt extensively in trade with England, France, the Scandinavian countries and the West Indies.

"This collection of papers is one of the largest we have received here in years and it fits in with other series we have on hand, to give a clear-cut picture of the trade of early America," Mr. Land said.

CALLED PRICELESS

John M. Jennings, in charge of the manuscript collection at the college, said Mrs. Jeffcott's gift is a priceless one and that it would be impossible to estimate the worth of the collection.

A great, great, great-granddaughter of John Camm, seventh president of the College of William and Mary, and a great, great-granddaughter of Mr. Blow, Mrs. Jeffcott has given other manuscripts to the college library at various times.

Her latest gift is one that undoubtedly will be used for research by students and historians.

BUSINESS ACCOUNTS

"These are literally Richard Blow's business accounts from his counting rooms at Portsmouth, Sussex and Petersburg," Mr. Jennings explained. "Richard Blow was a very important eighteenth century merchant and his papers include invoices and correspondence and provide an excellent picture of the entire period immediately following the Revolution.

"These papers reflect the fashions and tastes of the rich and ordinary. The invoices cover everything used during the period. They run from toupee combs to pianofortes."

One series of letters written in October, 1781, by a business acquaintance comments upon the affects of the Yorktown campaign.

Mrs. Blow's Rites At 4:30 in Norfolk

NORFOLK, Nov. 6. — Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas Blow, 81, were to be held at 4:30 P. M. today at the H. D. Oliver Funeral Apartments. Mrs. Blow, who died here Thursday, is the widow of Major William Nevison Blow. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery beside her husband.

A native of Cape Elizabeth, Me., Mrs. Blow was the daughter of General Henry G. Thomas and Mrs. Thomas, and had lived here and in Sussex for the past 20 years. Major Blow served as a United States officer in the Boxer rebellion and in the Philippine insurrection. A son, Thomas Blow, was killed in the Pacific theater of war early in the year shortly before he was to retire as a chief engineer in the Merchant Marine and take over his inheritance at Tower Hill, a Sussex plantation that had been in the Blow family for 300 years.

Surviving are one granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Blow Jurgeson, Burbank; one sister, Mrs. Ellen W. Thomas, Nantucket Island, Me.; one brother, Harry Thomas, Portland, Me., and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Thomas Blow, Pasadena, Calif.
